Moving and Storage Disputes

Our attorneys have extensive experience handling a variety of moving and storage disputes both in Arizona and around the country. We work closely with our clients to develop storage contracts and bills of lading that provide the best chance of avoiding disputes and related litigation. We also work with our clients to incorporate optimal language in their contracts for insurance selection, including replacement and basic value options. When claims do arise, we are prepared to handle a wide range of matters, including contractual disputes, hours of service for truck drivers, and the auction of goods in storage upon default by the customer. We also have experience handling Servicemembers Civil Relief Act (SCRA) claims around the country, as well as claims arising out of interstate moves.
