Premises Liability Lawsuits

From slip-and-fall claims with minor injuries to incidents involving catastrophic injury or death, Thorpe Shwer has assisted our clients in achieving favorable outcomes in premises liability cases in Arizona and around the nation. We recognize that premises liability cases often present unique and difficult challenges for property owners and offer a team of attorneys with the skills and resources necessary to respond to our clients' needs and demands. When an incident occurs, our team quickly evaluates the situation so that we can prepare a thorough defense of our clients' interests. In addition to having experience in the medical issues that are a critical component of every personal injury matter, our attorneys are also well versed in the legal framework that will determine whether the claimant was a trespasser, licensee, or invitee. Our involvement in these types of claims is extensive and usually encompasses pre-litigation evaluations of settlement demands, pursuing a comprehensive discovery strategy, trial, and appeal.
